Diana Oestreich served 407 days as a combat medic in Iraq. But when she was commanded to run over an Iraqi child to keep her battle buddies safe, she became a peacemaker instead. This beautiful and gut-wrenching memoir exposes the false divide between loving our country and living out our faith's call to love our enemies. By showing that us-versus-them is a false choice, this book will inspire us all to choose love over fear.

DIANA OESTREICH is an activist, public speaker, veteran, sexual assault nurse, and the key relationship officer at Preemptive Love, a global relief organization working to end war. She lives in Duluth, Minnesota.

In Just Faith, activist and writer Guthrie Graves-Fitzsimmons explains how a strong religious left has accompanied every major progressive advance in our society, and he resurrects the long but forgotten history of progressive Christianity in the United States. This book is a rallying cry for a bold progressive Christianity that unapologetically fights for its values to impact the biggest political battles of our time—from immigration and economic fairness to LGBTQ+ and abortion rights.

GUTHRIE GRAVES-FITZSIMMONS is a progressive Christian writer and activist. He is a fellow in the Faith and Progressive Policy Initiative with the Center for American Progress, founded The Resistance Prays, and is a frequent commentator on religion and politics for a variety of national news outlets. Graves-Fitzsimmons holds a master of divinity from Union Theological Seminary, where he was the William Sloane Coffin Scholar in Christian Social Ethics. He lives in Louisville, Kentucky.

Jeff James thought he was one of the good white guys. But when he asked an African American friend how he could help fight racism, he had to think again. “Simple,” she shot back, “get rid of whiteness.” In Giving Up Whiteness, James examines what it means to be white in twenty-first-century America. Ultimately, James writes, well-meaning white people have a lot of work to do, and it’s past time to get started.

JEFF JAMES has led innovation and diversity initiatives in technology, marketing, economic development, and publishing industries and currently serves as vice president and publisher of business and leadership books and e-courses for HarperCollins. He has been featured in Forbes and Publishers Weekly. James lives in the Nashville, Tennessee, area.

What does “IRL (In Real Life)” really mean in today’s digital age? It’s easy to view our online presence as fake, to see the internet as a space we enter when we aren’t living our real, offline lives. IRL, Chris Stedman’s insightful exploration of authenticity in the digital age, shines a light on how age-old notions of realness can be freshly understood in our online lives. Stedman invites readers to consider how they use the internet to fulfill the essential need to feel real, online and off.

CHRIS STEDMAN is an activist and community organizer who has written for The Guardian, The Atlantic, Pitchfork, BuzzFeed, and VICE, and has appeared on CNN, MSNBC, and PBS. He was the founding executive director of the Yale Humanist Community, and is now a fellow of Augsburg University in Minneapolis, Minnesota. The Arts

In this revelatory book, Robert Hudson considers seven poets, each of whom wrote a provocative poem about a fly. Considering Emily Dickinson, William Blake, and several other poets, The Poet and the Fly brings together the poetry, the flies, and the poets' own lives to explore the imaginative, and often prophetic, insights that come from the startling combination of poetry and flies, the extraordinary and the ordinary.

ROBERT HUDSON was a book editor for Zondervan for thirty-four years and is the author of the industry-standard Christian Writer's Manual of Style. He has written several other books, including Kiss the Earth When You Pray; The Monk's Record Player; and The Art of the Almost Said. He lives in Michigan.

Known for her bestselling detective novels, Dorothy L. Sayers lived a fascinating, groundbreaking life as a novelist, feminist, Oxford scholar, and important influence on the spiritual life of C.S. Lewis. Subversive shows how Sayers ignites new ways to think about Christianity, shocking people into seeing the truth of ancient doctrine, inspiring believers to evaluate how and why their language perpetuates divisive certitude rather than the hopeful faith, and showing us all a better way forward.

CRYSTAL DOWNING, PHD, is the Co-Director of the Marion E. Wade Center in Wheaton, Illinois, the preeminent archive in the world for documents by and about C.S. Lewis and six of his British influencers, including Dorothy L. Sayers. Her first book, Writing Performances, won an international award for outstanding Sayers scholarship.

New updated and expanded paperback reveals the universal yearning writer David Zahl identifies, not to be happy or respected so much as enough—what religions call “righteous.” Today, we look to various passions—from eating to parenting to voting—for the meaning once provided on Sunday morning. Seculosity takes a thoughtful yet entertaining tour of American “performancism.” Ultimately, Zahl brings us to a fresh appreciation for the grace of God in all its countercultural wonder.

DAVID ZAHL is the founder and director of Mockingbird Ministries, editor-in-chief of the popular Mockingbird website, and cohost of The Mockingcast. He lives in Charlottesville, Virginia, where he also serves on the staff of Christ Episcopal Church. Zahl is the author of A Mess of Help: From the Crucified Soul of Rock N’ Roll and coauthor of Law and Gospel: A Theology for Sinners (and Saints).

Brit Barron grew up in an Evangelical megachurch in the '90s, boxed in by her fears, unable to realize her full potential. All that changed when she fell in love with a girl named Sami. Worth It shares her story to inspire us to overcome our own fears—the fears that keep us from evolving beyond the narratives that have been defined by others. When we do, we'll find out it was so worth it!

BRIT BARRON is a sought-after speaker about the intersections of spirituality, race, gender, and sexuality. She co-founded Other Dreamers, a creative agency designed to help others tell their stories authentically. She co-pastors New Abbey, a church in Pasadena, California, that seeks to challenge and redefine what “church” looks like today.

On the surface Liz Petrone looks as if she has it all. But, like many women, she is desperately lonely and dealing with ghosts of her own. Through a combination of personal narrative and common truths, Liz provides a timeless reminder to world-weary readers that, just as birth follows death, light does indeed follow darkness; and that, often, it is because of our pain—and not despite it—that we grow, survive, and—yes—thrive.

LIZ PETRONE is a suicide survivor and a recovering anorexic who found unprecedented support and community in telling intimate stories that speak to the lessons learned in survival and recovery. Today, she's an author, blogger, speaker, and survivor. She lives in Syracuse, New York.

Religion / Mysticism

Taking readers on a journey through history guided by the mystics, Awakened by Death shows us how our psychological and spiritual relationship to death has changed over time, and helps us to reclaim a healthy engagement with our own mortality. Ultimately, readers will gain a deeper understanding of how facing the fear of death, and embracing rather than eschewing its mysteries, can help us live richer, fuller lives.

CHRISTIANA N. PETERSON is the author of Mystics and Misfits: Meeting God through St. Francis and Other Unlikely Saints. Her writing has been featured in Christianity Today, Art House America, The Christian Century, Bearings Online, and she's a regular contributor to Good Letters, an Image Journal blog. She lives in Ohio.

For years, River Jordan felt a call to travel to the mystical Isle of Iona—the island that gave birth to Celtic Christianity. In The Ancient Way she invites us to join her on this pilgrimage as she explores ancient Celtic Christian practices such as hospitality, imagination, and community. This is a thoughtful guide for cultivating divine connection as we embark on our own wild adventures, chasing the mystery that calls us all.

RIVER JORDAN is a speaker and bestselling author of books on Christian spirituality, including Praying for Strangers. A Southerner with a global perspective, she is a fierce advocate for the power of story to reveal the truth of our common ground. Jordan is the host of the weekly literary radio program Clearstory. She lives just outside Nashville, Tennessee.

Great Works by Brian D. McLaren

The New Kind of Christian trilogy by Brian D. McLaren recounts a lively and intimate conversation between fictional characters Pastor Dan Poole and his daughter's high-school science teacher, Neil Oliver. They reflect together about faith, doubt, reason, mission, leadership, and spiritual practice in the emerging postmodern world.

Religion / Christian Living / Prayer

From the Old Testament prophets to Jesus to now, contemplative prayer has brought people of faith closer to God. Coming to God in the Stillness is a spiritual gem offering readers an easy-to-follow guide for their own contemplative prayer. In a simple style with practical emphasis, Borst outlines twelve stages of contemplative prayer and then addresses key questions, such as: What is it? What does it achieve? How can we learn it? Through this classic primer, discover the power of meeting God in the silence and stillness of contemplation.

JIM BORST (1932–2018) was a priest and worked as a Dutch Roman Catholic missionary in Kashmir, where he was based at the Holy Family Church in Srinagar. There, he established schools and helped translate the New Testament into Kashmiri. He passed away in Kashmir in September 2018.

Grief, emptiness, loneliness, guilt, loss, anger, and depression: the loss of a loved one brings a storm of powerful emotions. From the Depths is for those who have suffered the loss of their beloved. These prayers, located in the context of immense suffering and belief in a loving God, help us pray through the most difficult times and find God within. Elliston's simple prayers carry a thread of hope that, though pain is inseparable from the human condition, death does not have the last word.

REV. DR. JOHN ELLISTON is a Baptist minister from Darlington, England. He has written a number of books of prayers, including Here in Our Midst; Footprints on Sand; From the Foot of the Cross; Walking with Pain; and Walking the Way of the Cross: Prayers for Your Personal Journey.
